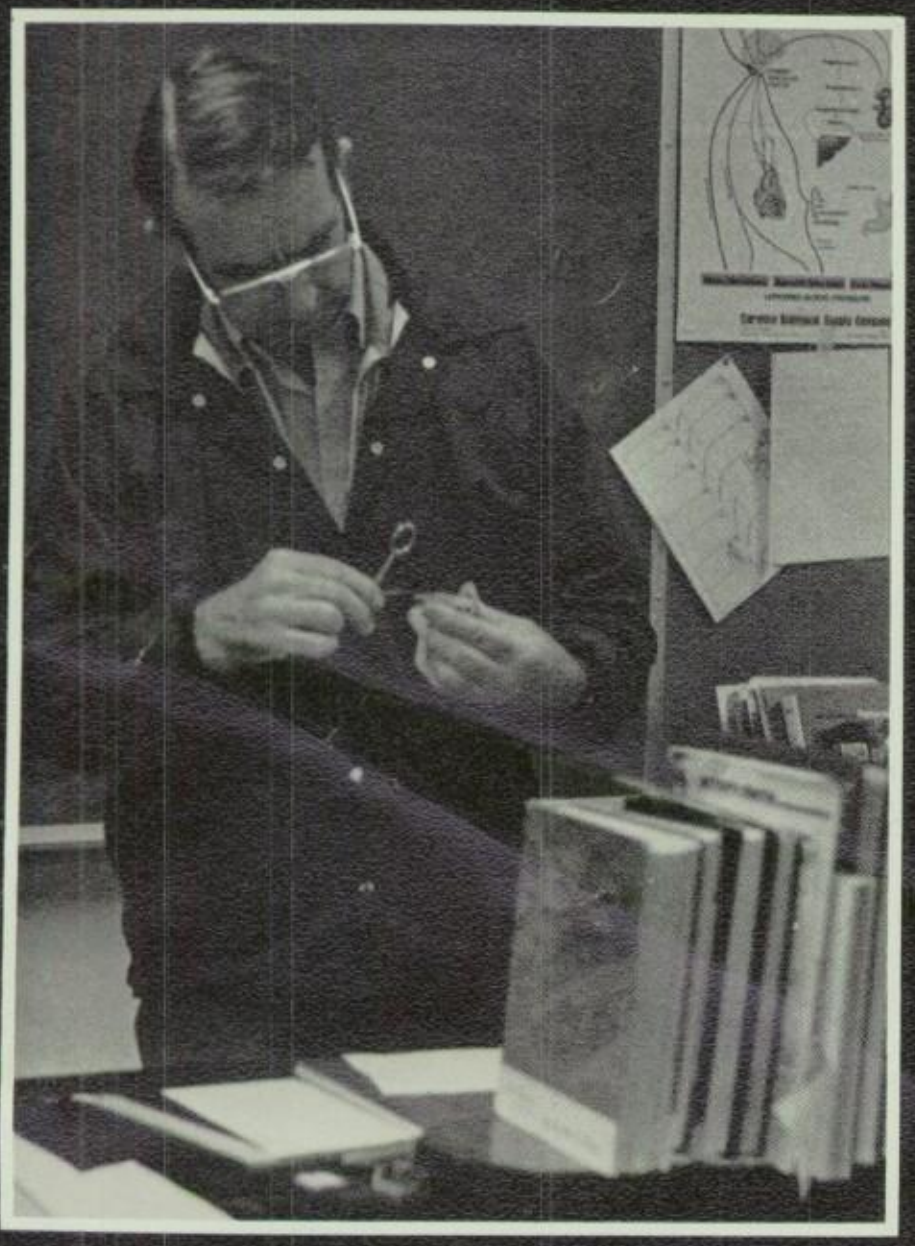
Tammy, we have done some crazy things this year. We even beat their system for quite a long time and when Mr. Cole asked us to get them turned in. I thought for sure we were caught ya we fooled him to. Ha. Ha. Home Ec. & Mr. Head Caldwell had to have been the best all year. Ya we sure fooled old many times. I bet we were the only ones he ever let go smoke a cigarette. That day he could have kicked us out when we were smoking that bowl no more than two feet from the door. If that isent crazy I dont know what is. Well I better quit writing I don't want to take up the whole page. Well at least we made it. School was a bitch But we sure had some good times I guess that is because we stayed high. (sometimes to stoned) This summer is going to be great. Were out of school for ever, well you will be sooner than you think.

Love ya Lori.

P.S. we should find another mouse before school is out. Ha. Ha.

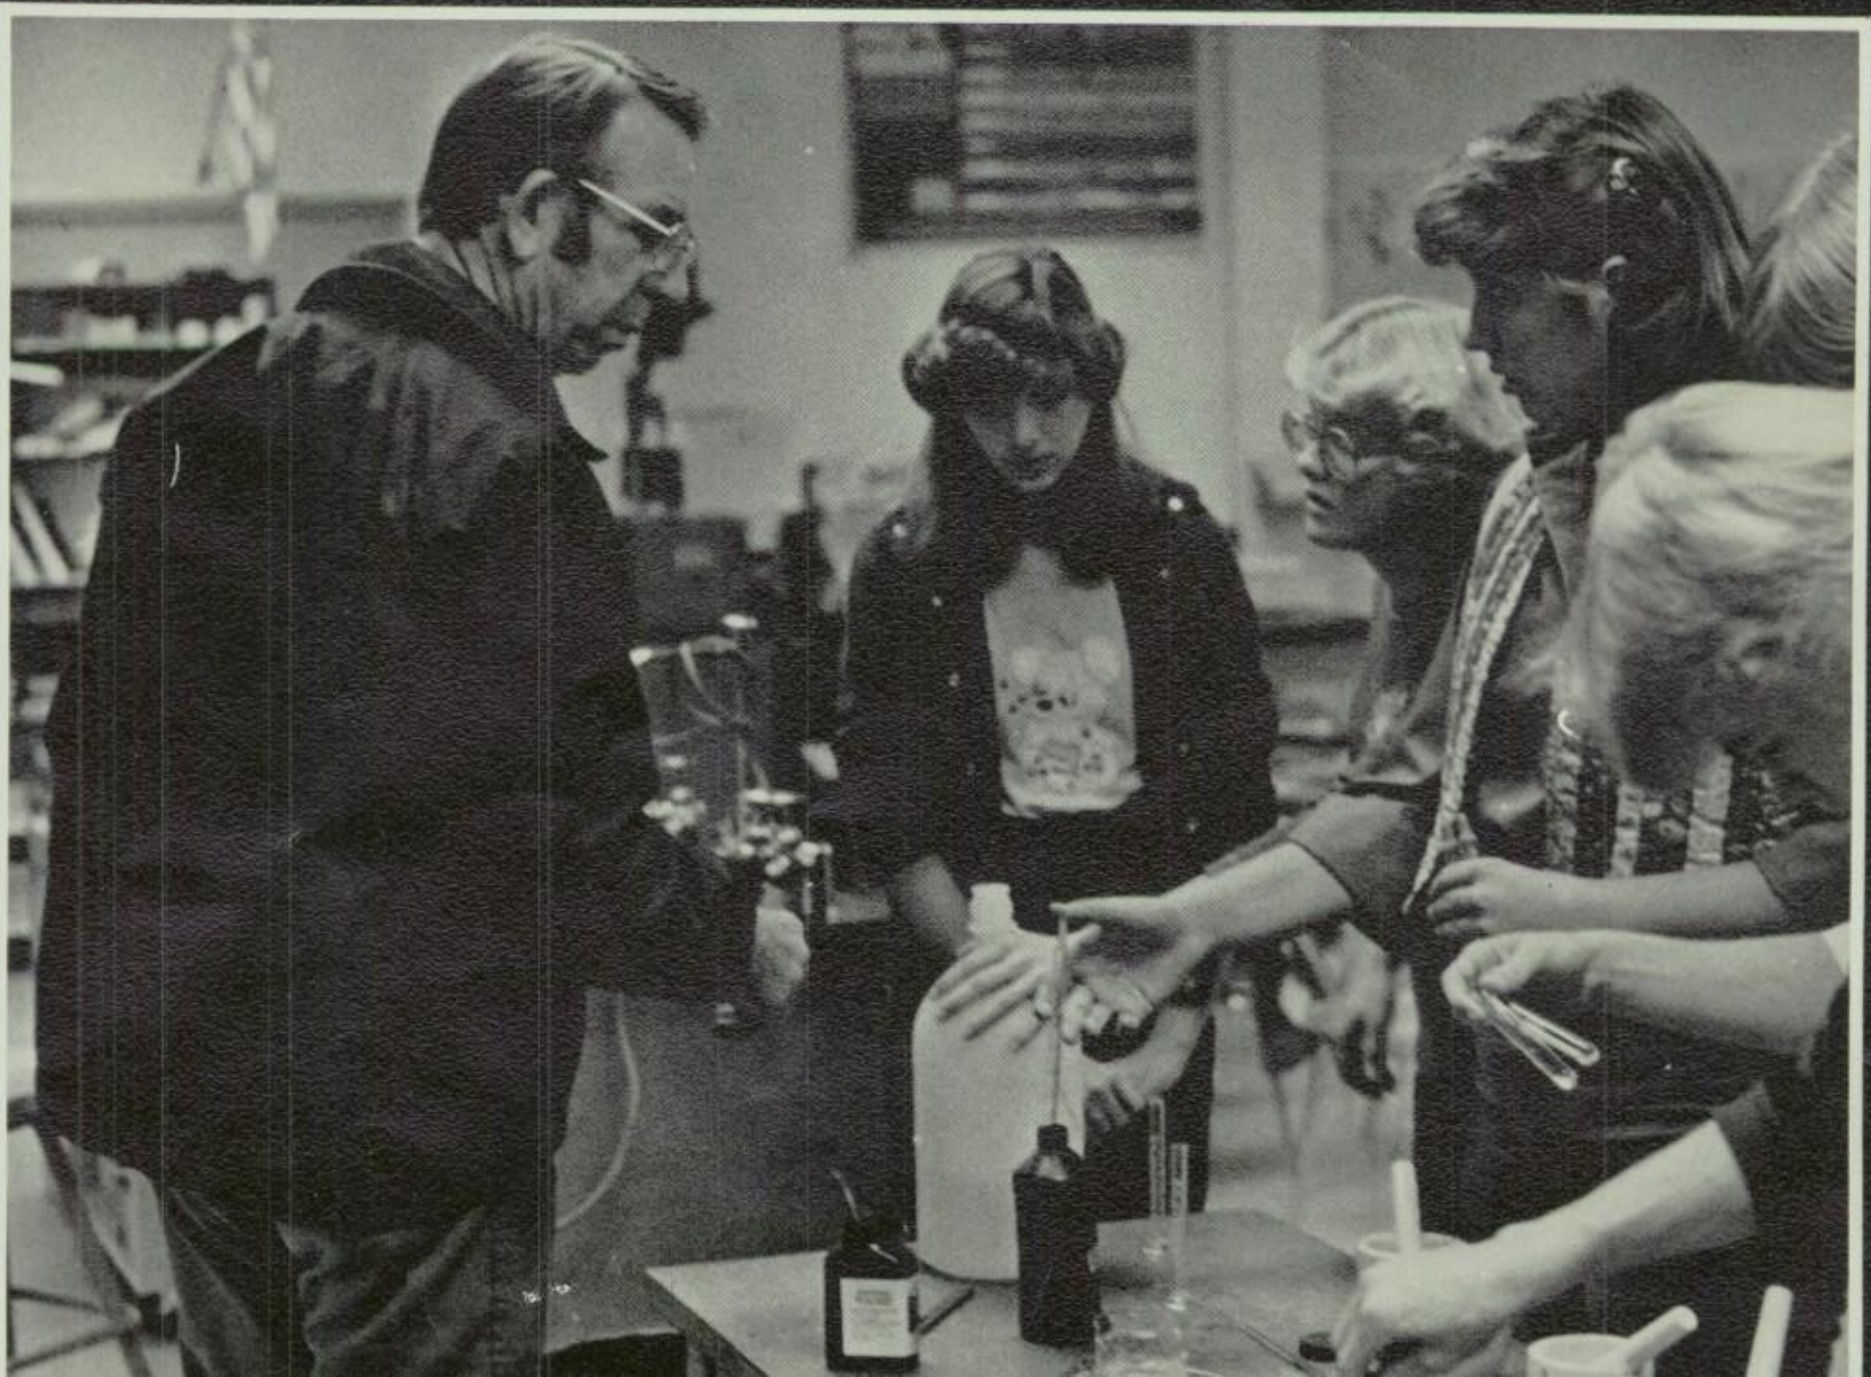
Now we can start going to the park in the days & get drunk.

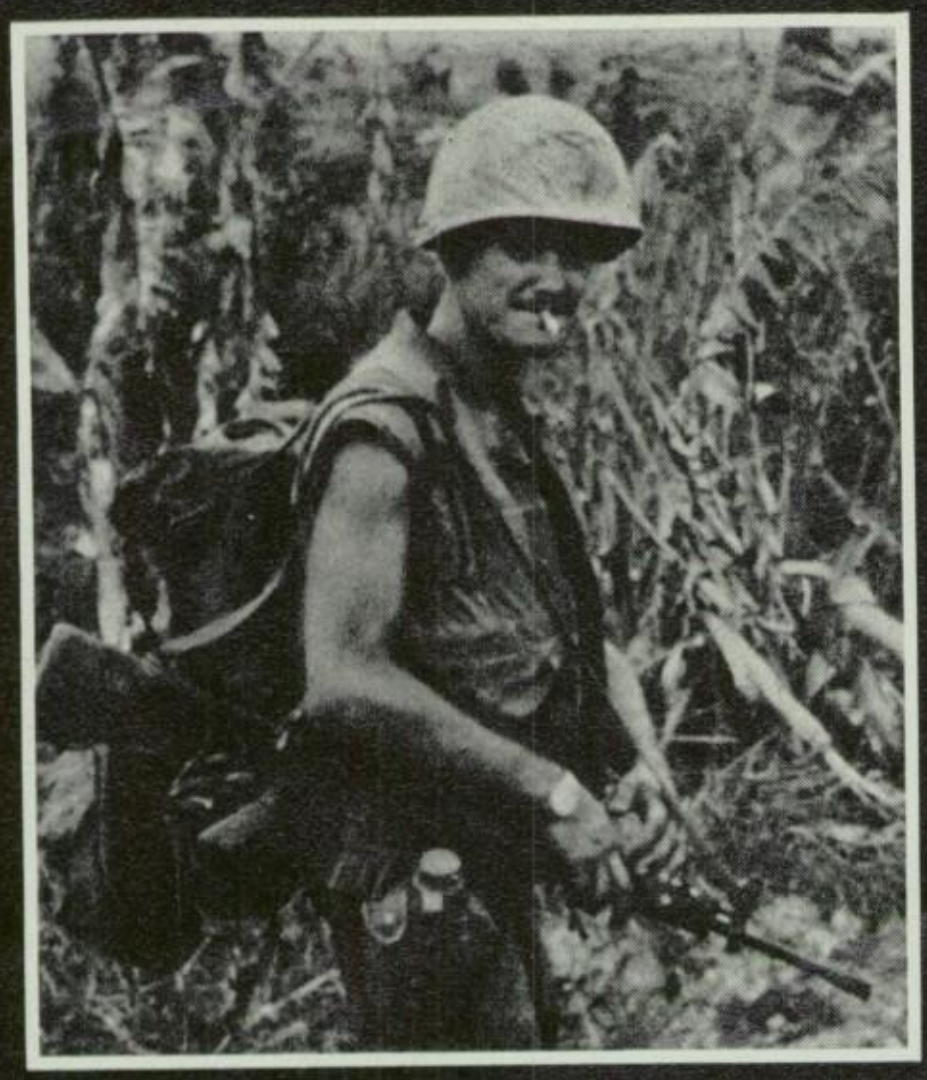
Tammy,
Just got to know you this year but your really down to be around. I'm sorry when we were partying. Glad you got to be around. I'm sorry when we were partying. Glad you got to be around. I'm sorry when we were partying. Glad you got



We have grown up in a unique era; the 70's has been a decade of many changes. More than ever before, people during the 70's have questioned old ideas and searched for new ones. That search resulted in many dynamic advancements in our lives as we experience the last year of this unusual, never to be forgotten decade-1979.

The 1979 Sinewesah is dedicated to a man who has touched the lives of many Pasco High students throughout the years of this extraordinary decade-Mr. Frank Hutchison.

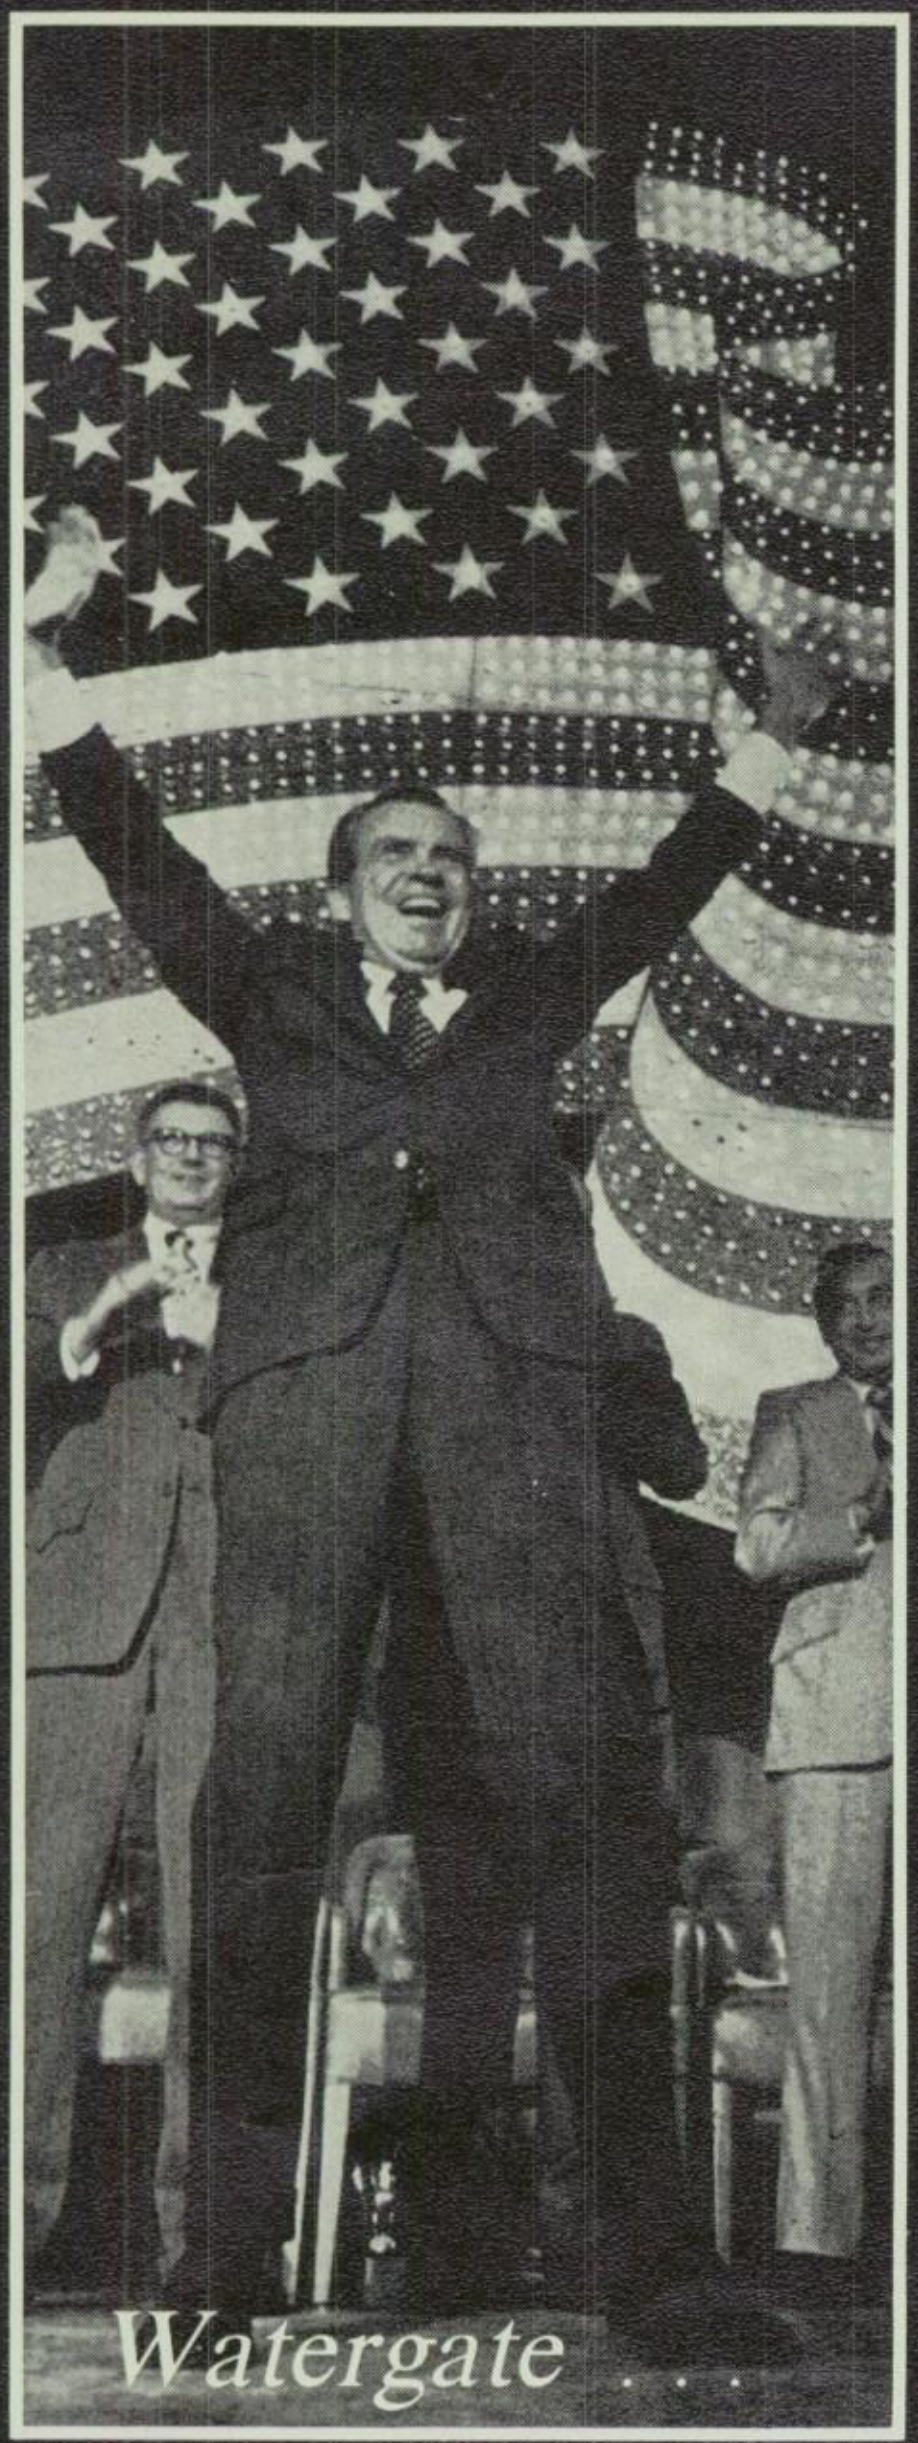




Vietnam . . .

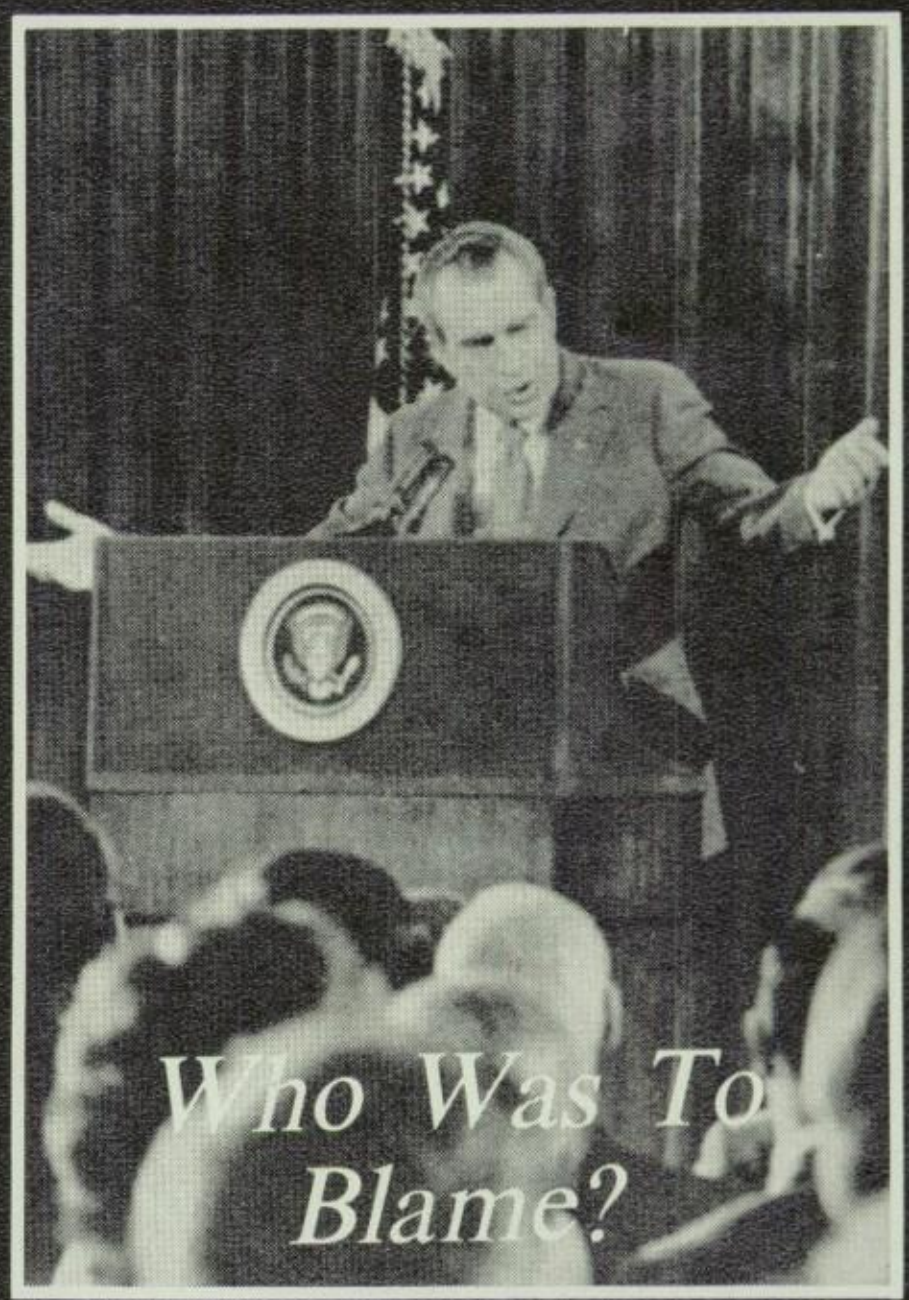
A War No One Wanted.

The decade opened with the nation involved in a war that many Americans questioned. As the conflict developed, many of us or our loved ones were directly or indirectly affected by the fighting in Vietnam. It was a war that America will long remember; it was a war that marked a change in many American ways.



Watergate . . .

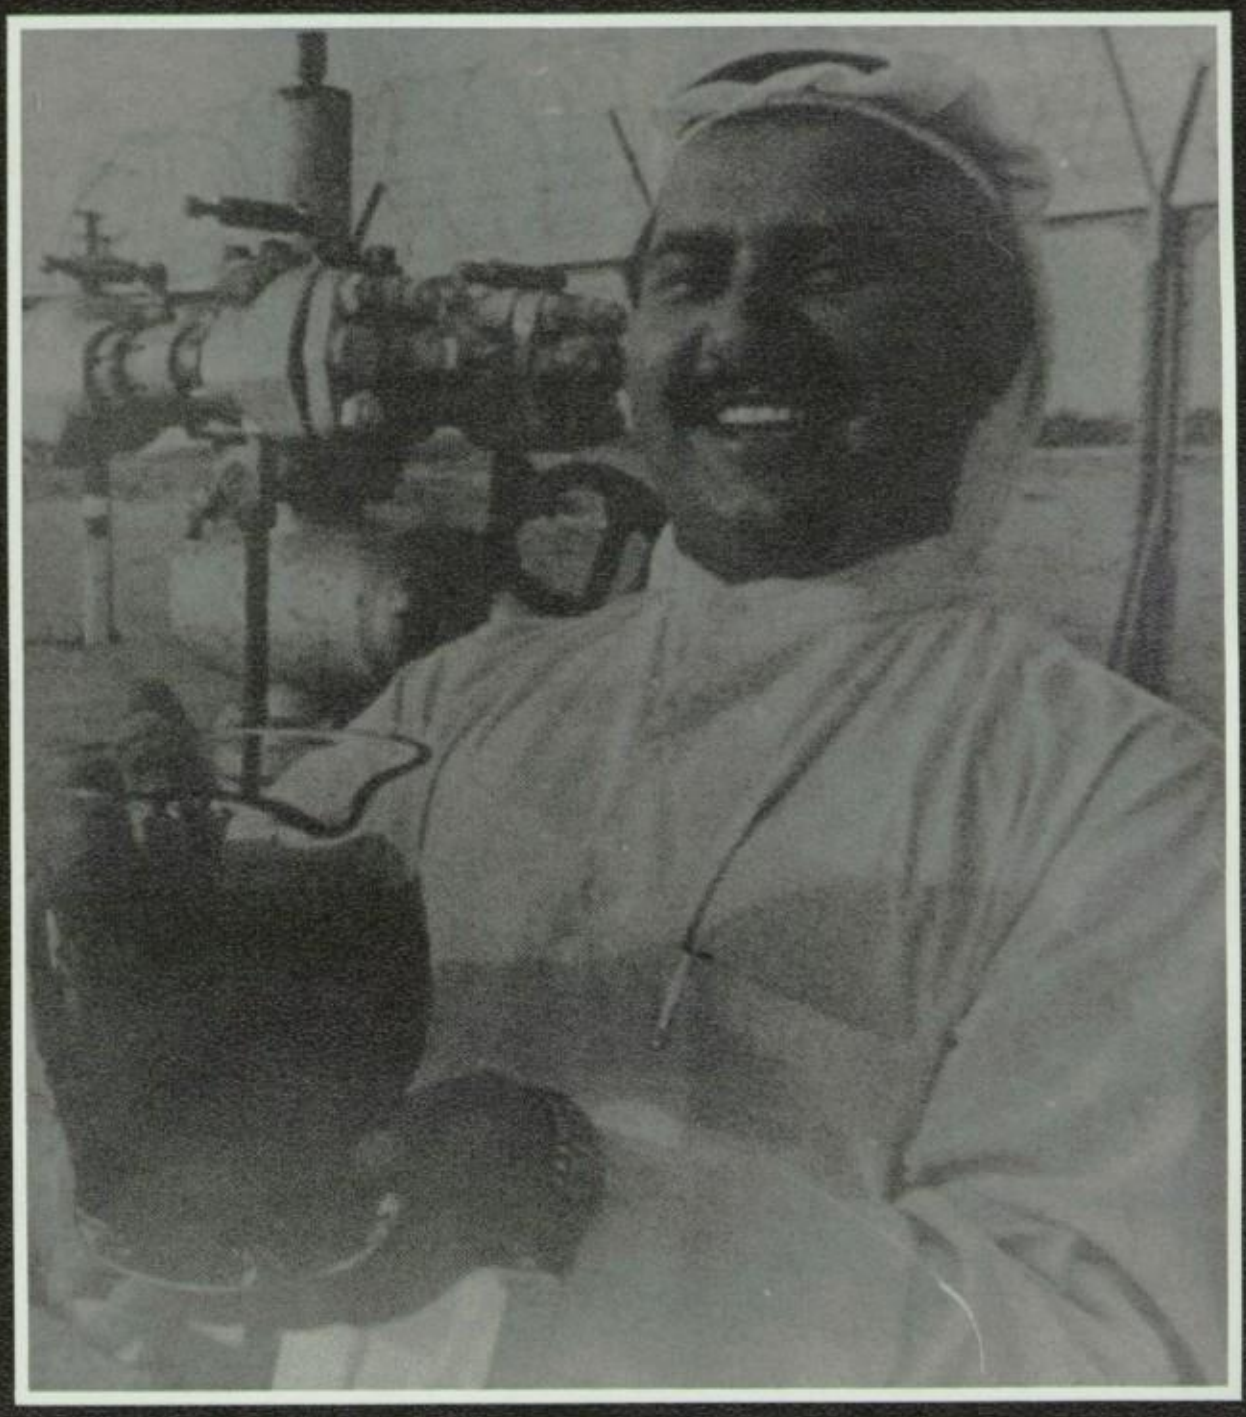
Early in the 70's our nation's government leaders came under public suspicion. Watergate became an issue which cast doubt on many political practices and created questions in the minds of many Americans. The entire affair resulted in the imprisonment of several public officials and the resignation of the president, as well as a deeply-carved scar on the American political system.

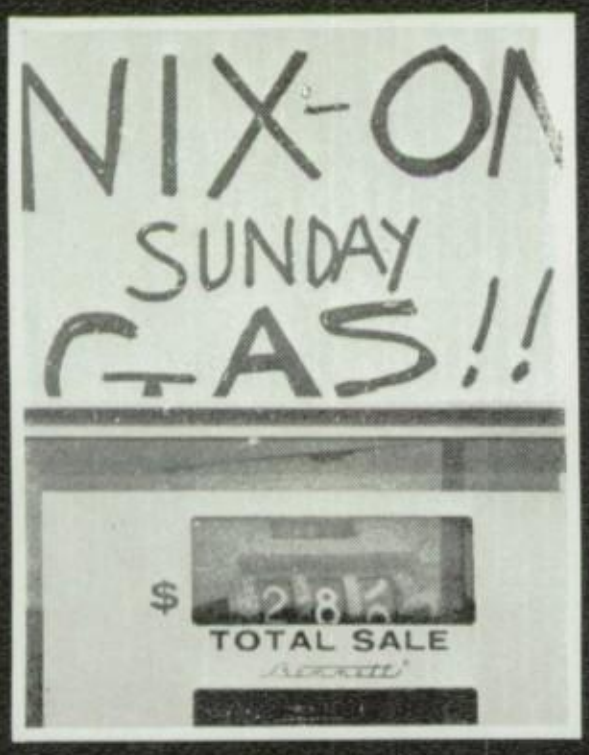


Who Was To Blame?

Energy Crisis Rocks The U.S.

America was suddenly jolted in the 70's by the abrupt discovery that we were too dependent upon other countries for our fuel and energy needs. New trends, innovations, and lifestyles resulted from this sudden realization, causing a great deal of concern about our energy needs in future decades.



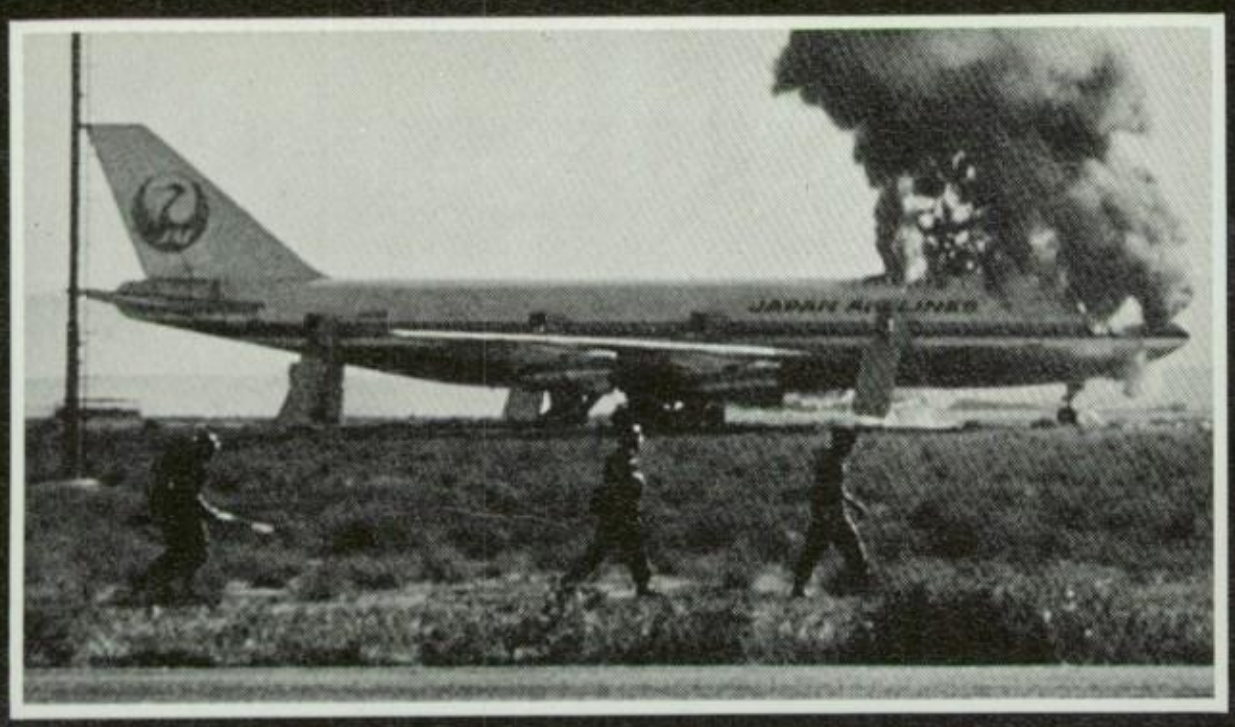


America Celebrates It's Birthday

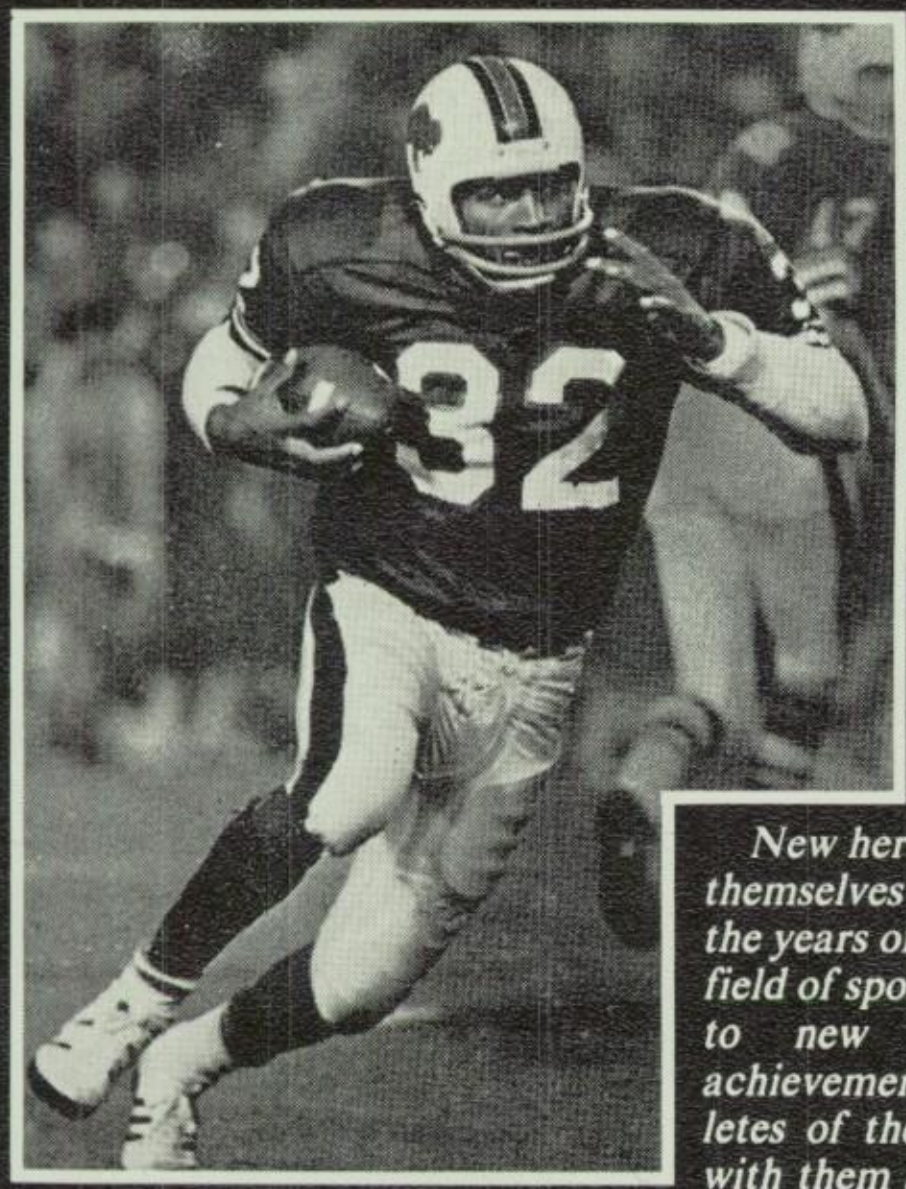
1976 was the nation's 200th birthday and the celebration was a long anticipated occasion for many Americans. At the time when the nation had several grave worldly concerns, the Bicentennial offered a chance for Americans to express their patriotism and to be involved in a once-in-a-lifetime event.

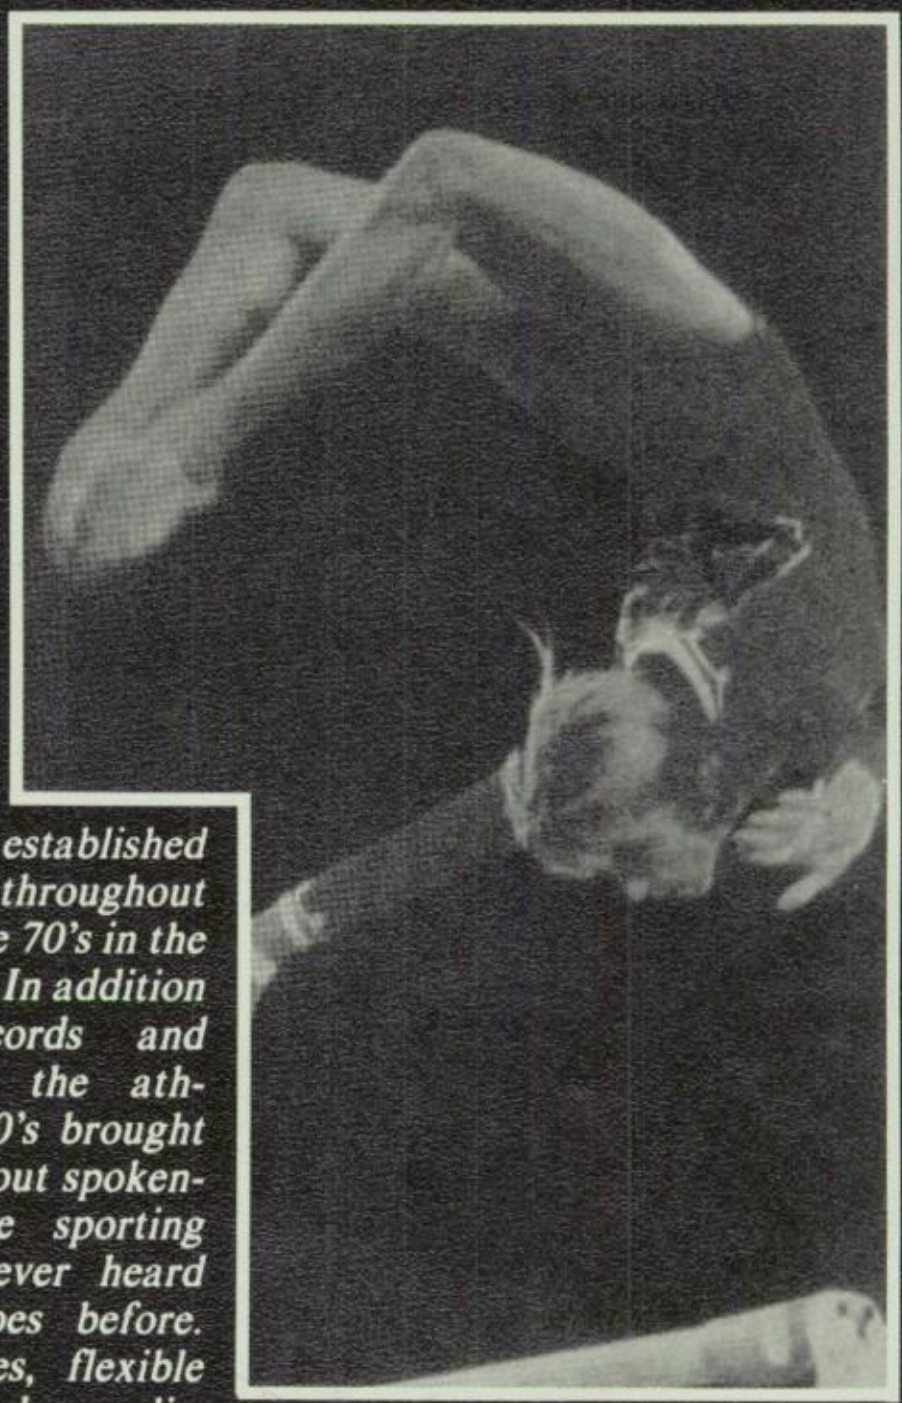
A World Plagued By Terrorism.

Throughout the 1970's, the world was struck again and again by acts of human terror that shocked mankind. Human lives were threatened and often lost as rebels and revolutionaries displayed their dissatisfaction with the established standards in ways that horrified most of the civilized world.

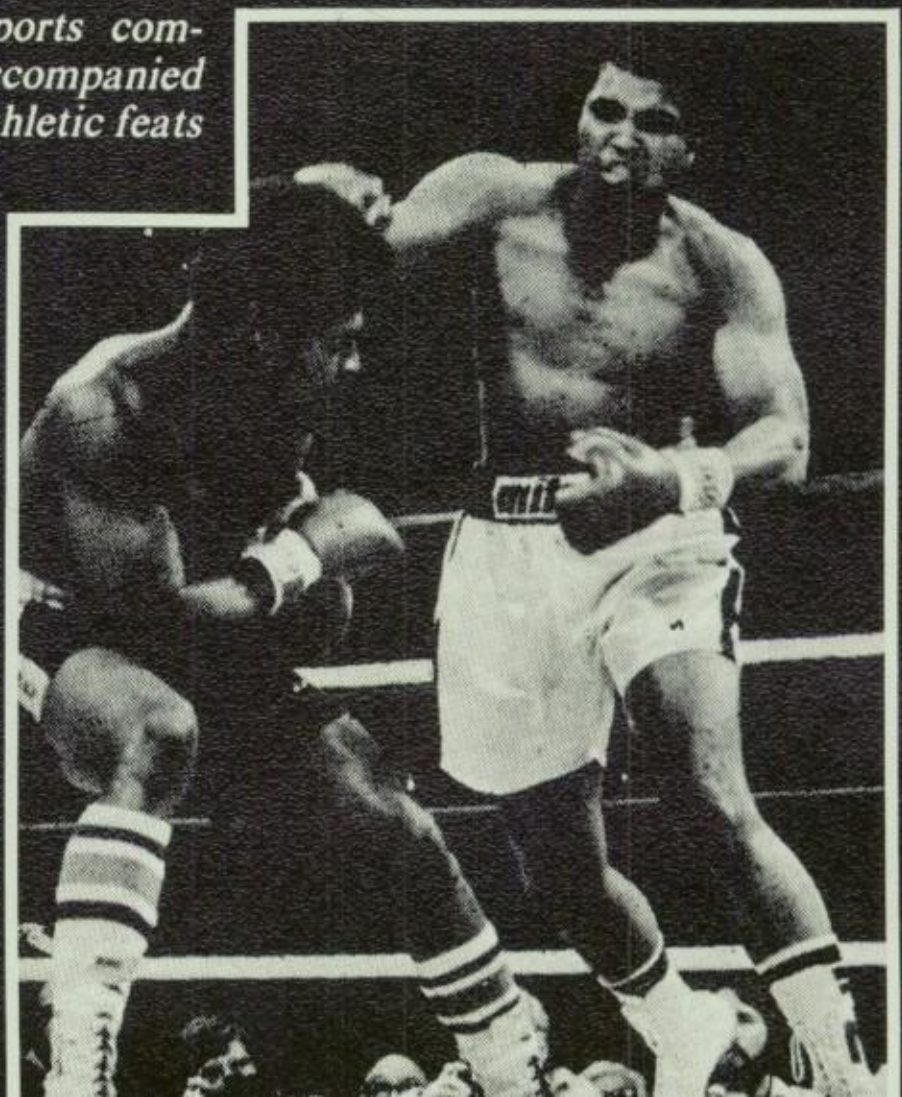


A Time For New Heroes





New heroes established themselves throughout the years of the 70's in the field of sports. In addition to new records and achievements, the athletes of the 70's brought with them an out spokenness that the sporting public had never heard from its heroes before. Higher salaries, flexible allegiances, and a realistic view of sports commercialism accompanied the dynamic athletic feats of the decade.



Entertainment World Offers Diversity

While the world was changing throughout the 70's, peoples tastes in entertainment changed as well. Producers of motion pictures became more sophisticated in their presentations, and strived to offer movies with deep meanings, contemporary reflection, and improved photographic techniques.

The fall assemblies aroused spirit in our school activities. Showing our spirit and pep was one of the ways that PHS students got it together, whether we won or lost, or were Junior, Senior or Sophomore we stood behind our teams and cheered them on in the year of 1978. Bulldogs Do It Best!!!

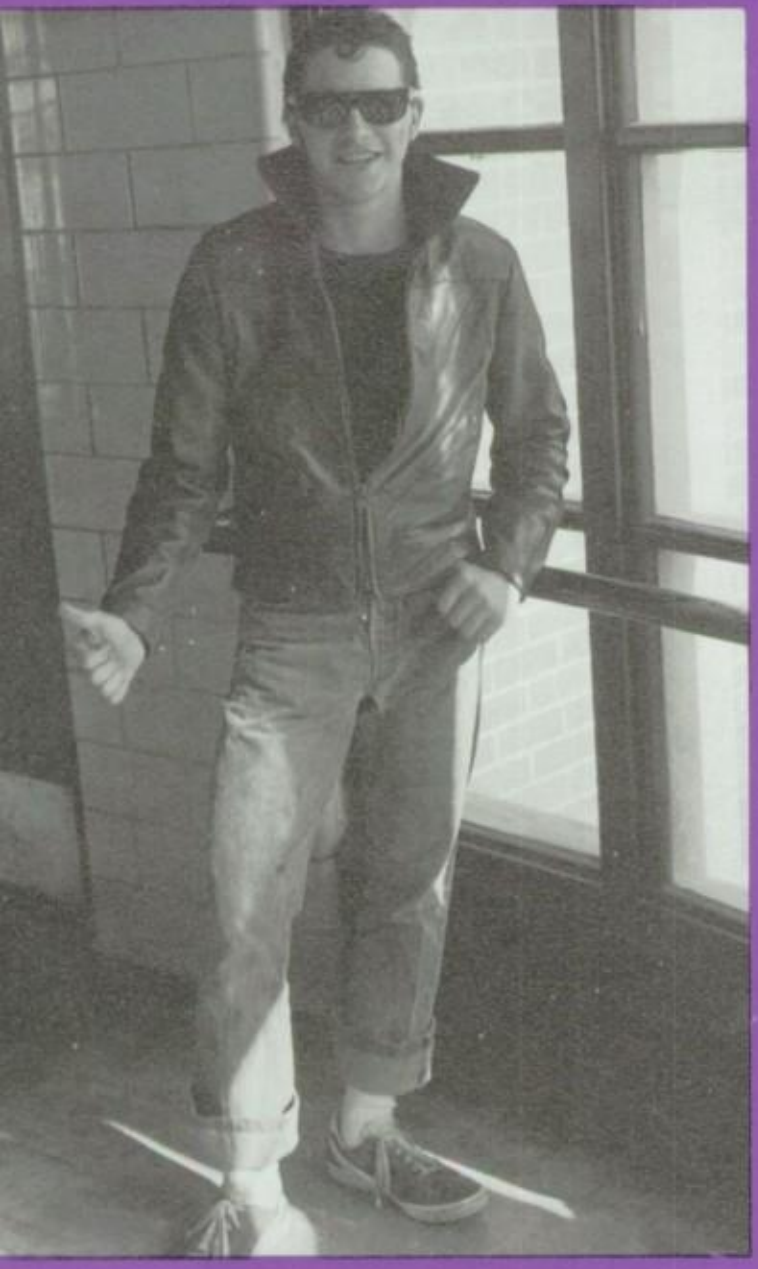
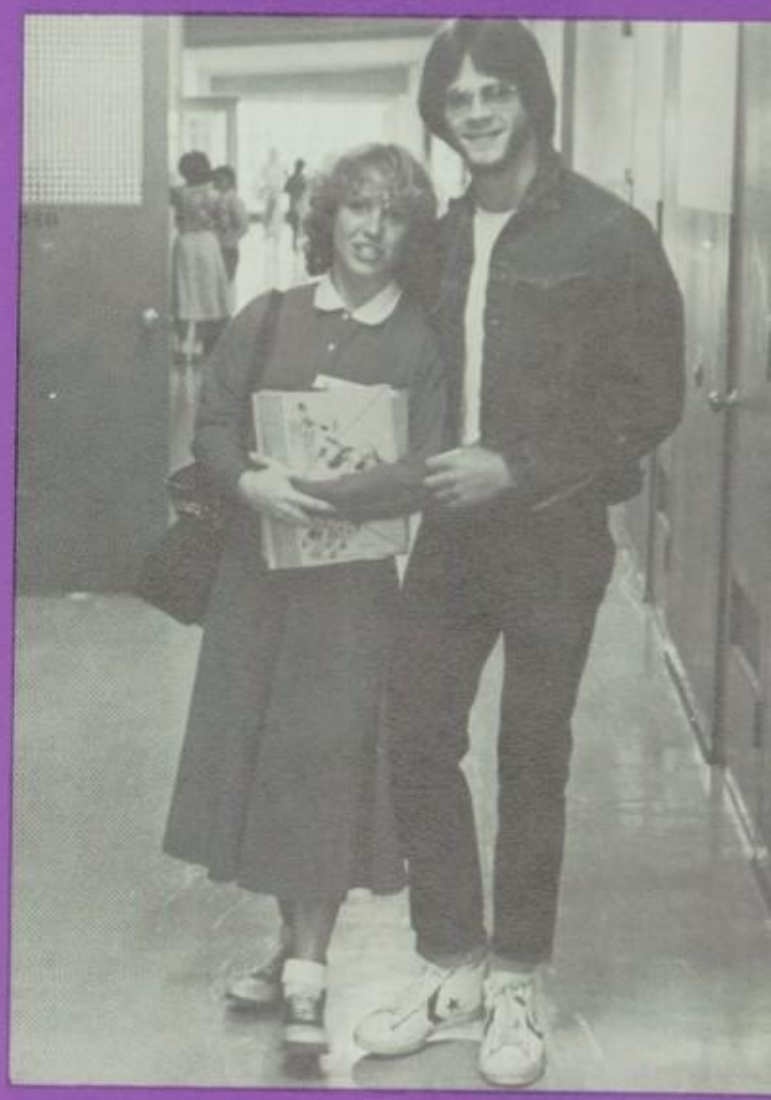
PHS We're Hopelessly

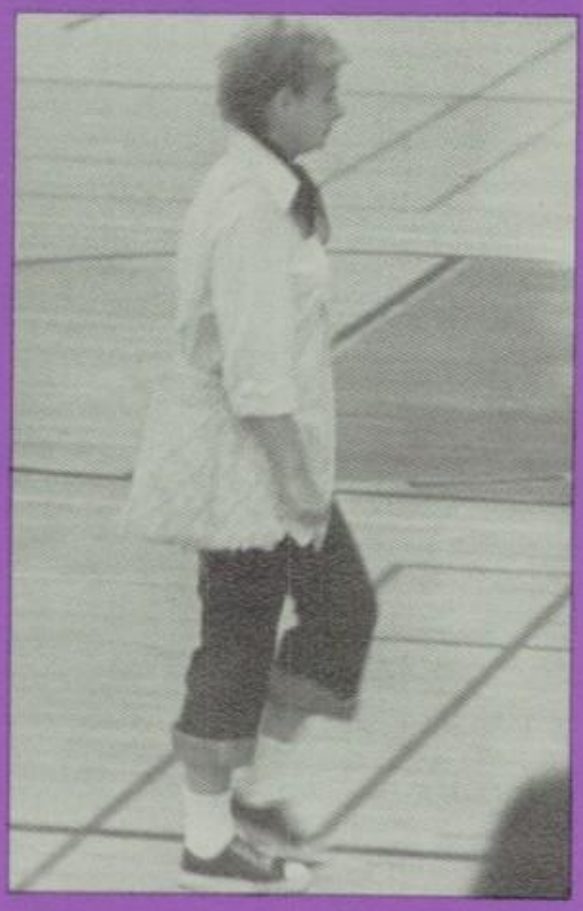
The movie "Grease" has had a tremendous effect on students everywhere. Reaching back to the fabulous 50's, we are reminded of the greased back hair, poodle skirts, leather jackets, ponytails, and the hop.

On Pasco High's Grease Day, it was a day for dress up and a high spirited assembly.

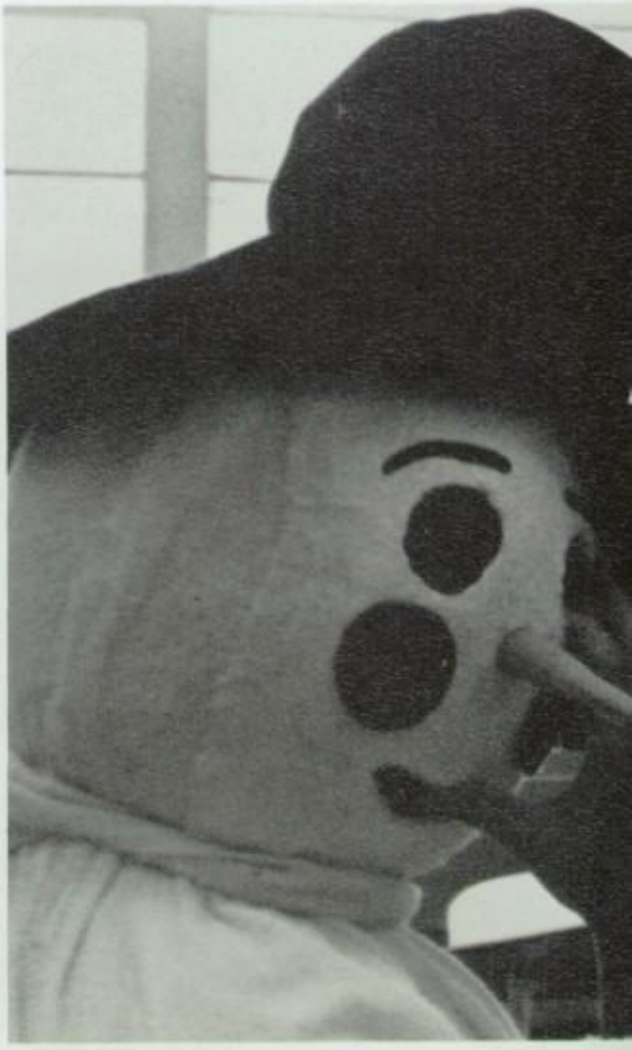


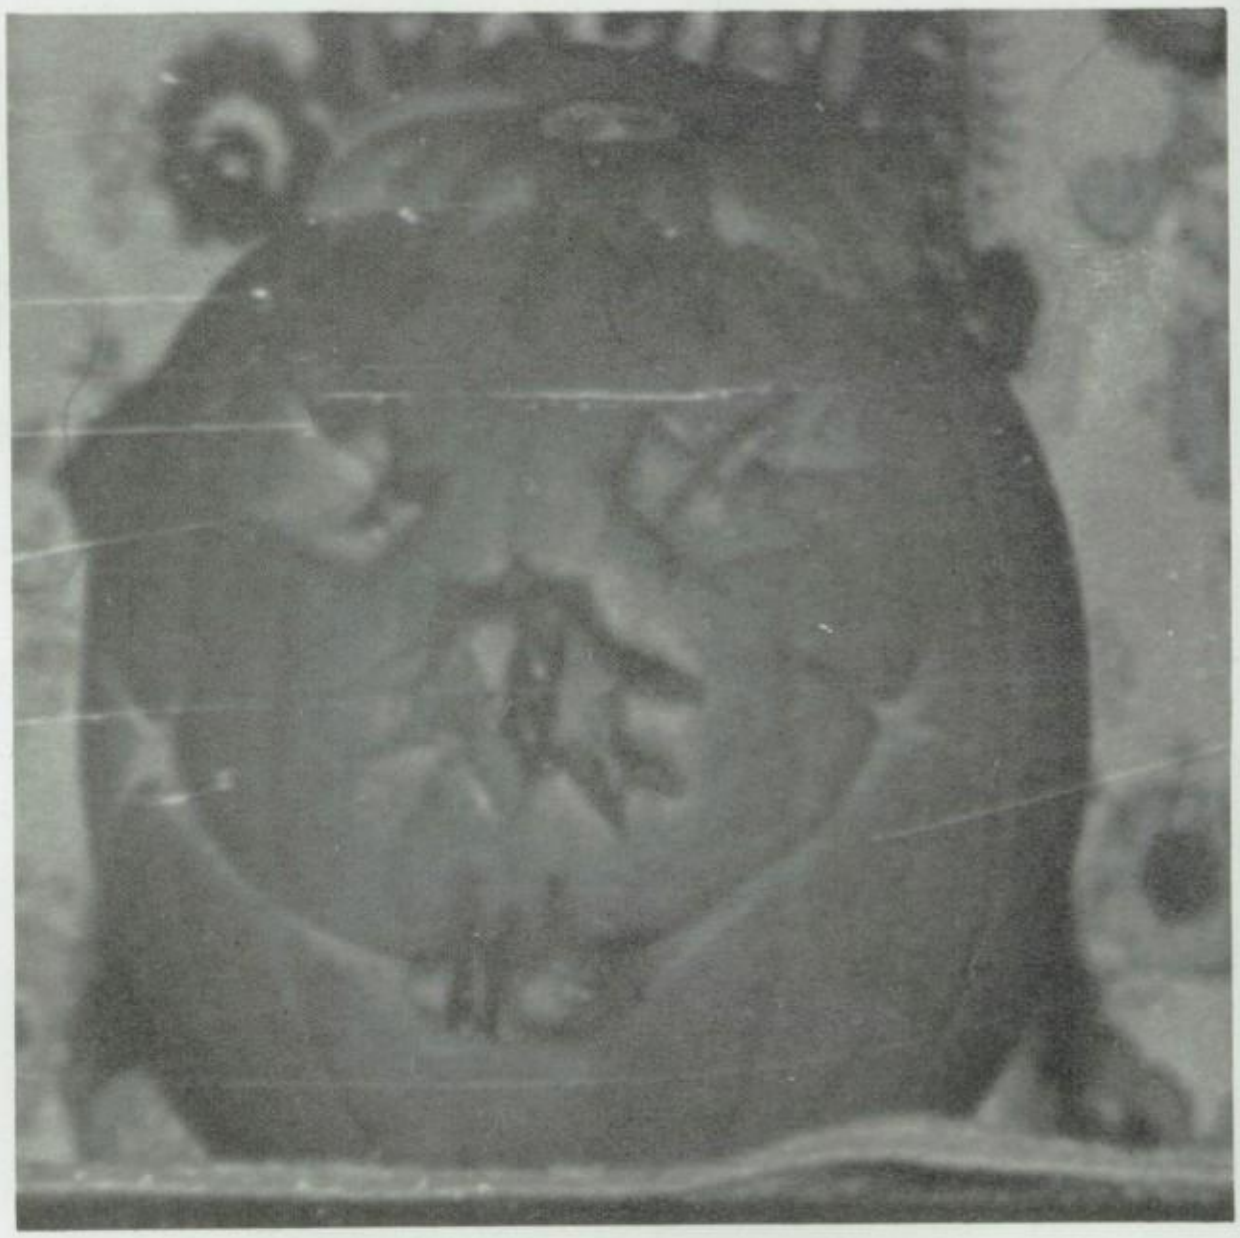
Devoted To You!





The Witching Hour?





Halloween brought an unusual assortment of students to PHS—it's not every day that rabbits and snowmen attend classes. Following Homecoming, Halloween provided spooks with one last haunt before cramming for quarter exams.

Winter took Pasco High students by surprise this year. It was the longest winter since 1915.

For ski lovers it was paradise, but to the average everyday person it was a nuisance.

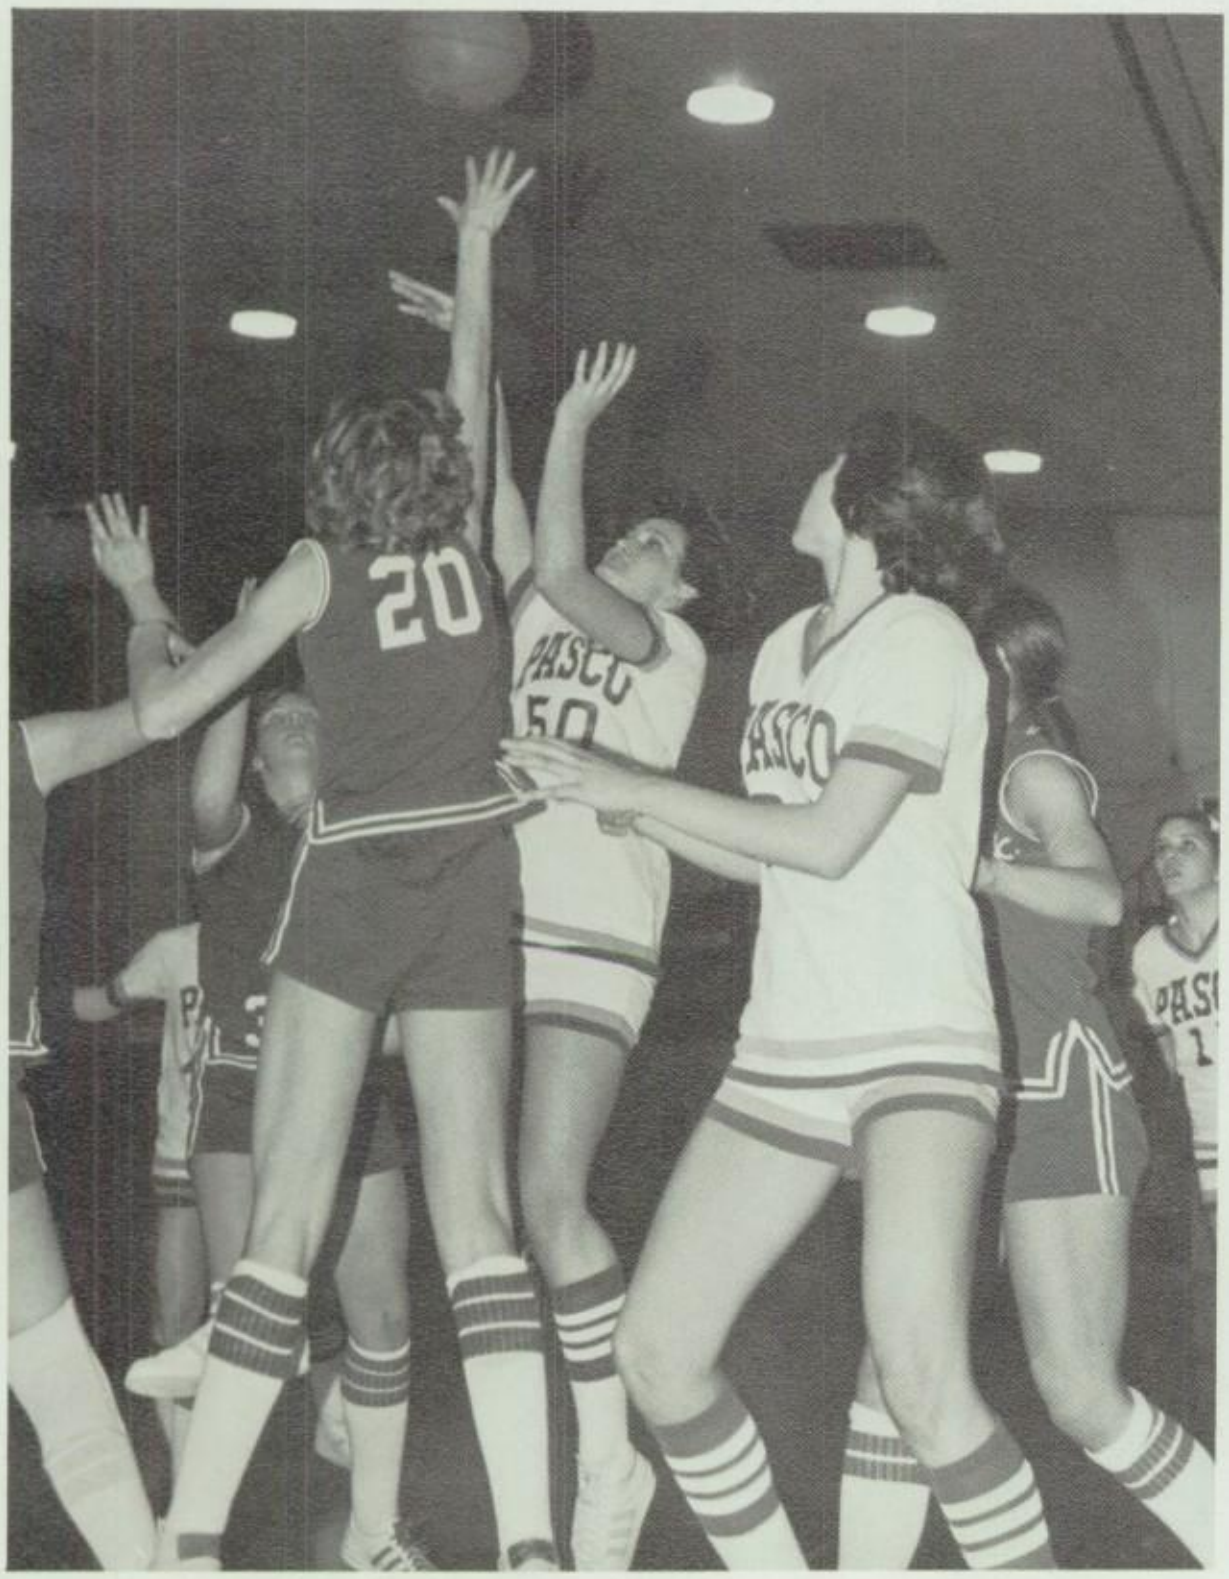
Girls B-Ball



The Pasco High girls' basketball team again set a new school record. They became the first Pasco girls team to win the Big Nine title with a record of 15-1. Coached by Rick Venable, this team defeated Walla Walla by a score of 70-54 to win the title. Though the season did not quite end the way everyone felt it should have, the league play was successful for the girls. With only 4 seniors; Julie Heiden, Leslie O'Brien, Chris Robisch nd Brenda Walker; the team should be a contender again next year.

Their Many Moves

This year the PHS matmen worked hard to take 4th place in the Big Nine. Eight Varsity wrestlers qualified from districts to compete in Regionals. Five of these wrestlers continued into state competition. Wayne Sparks became the state champion at 158. Rick Espinoza took 4th and Stan Kinsey and Mike Welch both placed in the top 12. Dan Milam did not place at state but put on a good fight for the Bulldogs.

After experiencing one of the coldest winters in recent years, Tri- City residents were anxious for the first signs of spring. Slowly, the snows began to melt and the clouds began to break. 'Dogs A Strong 2nd At State

This year's boys basketball team placed higher in state competition than any other Pasco boys team since 1971. A 2nd place finish at the State Tournament proved that the Big Nine league is one of the toughest leagues in the state. The three-day tournament placed the 'Dogs against Puyallup and Shorecrest, who they beat easily. The final night the 'Dogs played arch-rivals Richland, who proved to be too much for the 'Dogs to handle. But even with the loss, the 1978-79 year was a great season for the Bulldogs.

Laughter and good times, Responsibility and fulfilling life-best describes what it is like to be a JUNIOR!

Juniors have dreams and hopes for the future and they set out to make them become reality.

Throughout the year of 78-79 Juniors have joined together and gotten involved. They made things happen instead of just watching others. And in the year to come we'll be better because we're the Class of 1980!!! We show we're Proud to be Bulldogs and we have the Bulldog Spirit!!!
